Youth Ministry at Pleasant View

We are grateful for the ministry of Austin Cartee with our youth. He has done an outstanding job in carrying on ministry with our church's youth following Ben Ridgeway leaving for graduate school. Austin has been ministering with our youth prior to Ben leaving and in an interim capacity with them following Ben leaving. In January, Austin began his student teaching required during his last semester at Anderson University. With all the stress of student teaching responsibilities, Austin has determined that the wise thing for him, both for the best benefit of the church and for himself, is to stop his continued responsibilities of youth ministry with our church. Please note that he will continue to minister in the musical aspect of our modern service through a portion of the month of May. After that time in May, Austin feels a definite leading from God to be involved in a special ministry with his own family; that added responsibility with his family would make it impossible to continue serving in music worship with us.

For the time being, we are grateful to be able to share that Ty Standridge and Becca Edney, some of our adults who have already been building relationships with our youth, will step up to carry on ministry with the youth. Likewise, additional adults are being contacted to help as well. Beyond that, we are already in the process of contacting individuals to find the person God would direct to minister with our youth. Pray for our youth, our lay volunteers with youth, and direction to that one whom God has in mind to step in and to help minister with our youth. Again, we are very grateful and thankful for Austin and the work he has done with our youth.

In Christ,
Pastor Glenn
